The party included Glen McIntire, Henry Cullinan, Harold DeCoster, Houghton Kimball, Clyde Russell, Vincent Ashton, Carroll DeCoster, Ellis Perry, Billie Smith, Frank Smith, Charles Murch, Stanley March, Dwight Kilgore, Ursula Payne, Philip Gredtved, Henry Favor and the hostess, Grace True.

Taken from the Independent, St. Petersburg, Florida: "Dr. C. C. Stephens, of the editorial staff of the Youth's Companion, perhaps the best publication of its kind in the world, is in the Sunshine City, and with Mrs. Stephens, is a guest at Hotel Huntington. Dr. and Mrs. Stephens have been here about a week. They plan to leave tomorrow for St. Petersburg and other places in Florida. Dr. Stephens has been identified with the Companion since his boyhood and has contributed a notable share in making it such a widely known publication. This is Dr. Stephens' first visit to St. Petersburg. It is a splendid city, and I like it. A number of years ago I was in Tampa. I am greatly surprised at the growth of this section of Florida. During their stay here, Dr. and Mrs. Stephens have visited St. Petersburg Beach and other attractive places on the Pinellas peninsula."

American Legion Minstrels

Some big show the boys put on at Norway Opera House Friday and Saturday evenings. The house was crowded to the doors, especially Friday evening when the Mardi Gras was staged after a week with every novelty common to that spectacle.

The minstrels appeared as a benefit for W. H. Stone Post, American Legion. No better show of this kind was ever staged in town. Fine singing, a beautiful setting with elaborate costumes, a symphony orchestra and funny comedians made a combination which has left a unanimous opinion "it was the best ever."

First Part

The curtain went up on a brilliant scene showing the good old time circle in white faced with an orchestra of eight pieces arranged as a pyramid in the background. Each member of the circle on either side of the interlocutor wore dark red suits with cream satin trimmings. The "middle man" wore a cream colored full dress suit. Four men were gaily dressed in yellow and green satin, typical winged collars with faces blacker than aces. Members of the orchestra wore dark suits and regulation band caps.

Numerous local jokes were given, bringing the doctors, lawyers, undertakers, merchants, and restaurant keepers before the public with many laughs during their expense. The hits were well selected.

Those to produce the comedy were Chester Gates, Harold Anderson, Ralph Anderson and Walter Chandler. This bunch of burned cork celebrities came across with the lively songs as follows: "Cheer" Gates made a hit with "What You Gonna Do" with a celluloid shirt front accompaniment; Ralph Anderson carried the house with "Darktown Dancin' School"; "Fat" Anderson came across with flying colors producing "They'll Never Miss the Wine in Dixie Land"; Walter Chandler made a hit with "Everbody Calls Me Honey." Quite unexpectedly, appreciative friends presented vegetables and paper bouquets after each end song. The surprised recipients were equal to the occasion and responded fittingly with overwhelming emotion. The solo, "The Mountain King"; "Lonesome, That's All" was the beautiful selection given by H. Walter Brown; Harold Moore won the audience with the solo, "Grieving For You"; Abe Klain sang nicely, "Goodnight, Little Girl, Goodnight"; "One Pleasing Hour" was the selection finely rendered by George Hill. A feature of the vocal numbers was the selection "Just A-Wearin' for You" by the Imperial Quartette. Every song was recalled. Abe Klain was presented a beautiful bouquet decorated with an American flag Saturday night.

A patriotic finale introducing the entire company in "Daddy Was a Grand Old Man" and "For the Stars and the Stripes and You" made a tremendous hit. Col. Oscar Needham and Albert P. Bassett, both Civil War veterans and officers in Harry Red Post G. A. R., were ushered to the center of the stage by the endmen and with flags formed a picture as the curtain fell, closing the first part. The climax was strengthened when Frank Moore, the Portland tenor, sang "The Americans Are Coming" as the last number before the grand finale.

Aside from the ends and interlocutor the circle included Philip Young, Edward H. Brown, Fred Moore, H. W. Brown, Stuart W. Goodwin, George Hill, Abe Klain, Harold Moore, Philip Haskell, Arthur Gammon and Frank Moore. The orchestra included W. S. Stearns and Grace Hill, violin; A. B. Garcelon, trombone; Charles Garcelon, clarinet; Ray Newton, flute; Clarence DeCoster, bass viol; Ella Cote cornet; George Soper, drums; Elizabeth Klain, piano.

Part Second

While the stage was being cleared, the Symphony Orchestra, Walter S. Stearns, director, rendered a short concert introducing the musical numbers in the program just finished. The Imperial Quartette followed with the first stage number rendering several melodies without instrumental accompaniment. This well known musical team included H. W. Brown, Frank Moore, Harold Moore and Fred Moore, all but one of Norway. They were received with hearty applause and gave an artistic performance.

A burlesque production "Ill-Treated Traveller" a la operatic was staged by the colored comedians with the following cast:

Count De Lantier..... Chester Gates
Harold Anderson
Leonora..... Walter Chandler
Servant..... Ralph Anderson
Sentry..... Arthur Gammon
This extraordinary license of exaggeration was built upon the prison scene from a well known opera and played to the limit. The miraculous escape from jail, and even the horrible duel between the cruel Count and Manrocco was carried out with no board of censors to clip the film. The costumes were drawn from ancient, medieval and ultra modern sources. They were great to behold and not far from the cubist idea of art. The Volstead act was knocked and some local flavor went into the ridiculous chatter. The short play was a scream with Gates, Anderson, Gammon and Andrews in the foreground.

The Mardi Gras Carnival

Following the farce was a real Mardi Gras carnival with hats, fans, parasols, rattles, horns, loads of confetti and streamers, simply deluged the gay party. This is the first time a Mardi Gras carnival has been held here on such a large scale, and the participants entered into the game with will. Dancing was kept up until a late hour. Everyone conceded it an evening of rare enjoyment, both musically and fun making. Music for dancing was furnished by the Symphony Orchestra.

Originally the show had been planned for Saturday night, but the mad rush for seats when the advance sale opened on the preceding Monday caused a hasty change in plans. Norway Opera House was sold out in less than an hour and a half at that time. The Legion made no mistake by repeating the show Saturday night, for the house will practically pay all bills for the first night clear profit. Humdrum unable to gain admission at the first presentation attended the following evening and many carried away by the show Friday went again Saturday. Out of town patronage was large.

Hooker-Hove Costume Co. of Haverhill, Mass., furnished the garments for the first part. Edward L. Burnell handled the grease paints. The Legion expect to clear over $300.00.

Agricultural Class Have Chickens

A hatch of Rhode Island Reds is coming off at the agricultural rooms under the high school gym. Chickens commenced to pip Tuesday, which was the twentieth day after the incubator started. The chicks came rapidly Wednesday and the class will work out percentages before the school closes, Friday. Several students will start the machine again at the opening of the spring term. This first hatch was sold on futures almost before the lamp was lighted.

The agricultural class room has been connected with the electric bell signal system from the main building and recitation periods are announced by the master electric clock as in the high school. Heretofore it has been a guess game.

Instructor Edward Brown has installed a paper rack for a convenient handling of the general weekly farm papers coming to this department.

The barrel sprayer is ready for operation, and when the leaf buds appear the class will be given practical field work in spraying. Any farmer in town who receive the benefit of this class demonstration by notifying Mr. Brown. The instructor has a new Ford so can reach any district when the roads settle a little.

A gasoline engine and cream separator will be installed soon in the work room. A well known dealer in agricultural implements has generously offered these and other machines for demonstration purposes so long as the instructor desires.

Chapman Concert

The Chapman Concert was held Wednesday evening at the Norway Opera House and was one of the finest concerts Mr. Chapman has presented. The artists included Madame Sokoloff, Miss Lawrie, Madeleine Sokoloff and Prof. W. R. Chapman.

Mr. Guarnieri is the great baritone from the San Carlo Opera Co. He is 28 years old and has a wonderful voice with large range and great power and beauty and knows just how to use it. His pleasing personality and expression was most striking. He has been singing in Opera for the past five years.

Mr. Lawrie, the tenor from New York, is a Maine boy from Auburn and was much enjoyed. It will be remembered he is one of the most successful artists at one of the Festivals.

Madeleine Sokoloff, the distinguished violinist is called the Wizard of the Violin. She produced tone of great beauty, and played with faultless technique. Her work alone is a concert in itself.

Mr. Chapman's work at the piano needs no comment as he has the happy faculty of getting the best from his artists, and producing an orchestral accompaniment from the piano, that makes a perfect ensemble.

Mrs. Isadore Poland

Again the moan of suffering has yielded to the Victor's song and one of earth's purest spirits has passed to the Evergreen Shore. Mrs. Isadore Poland, wife of Arvida Poland of Welchville, passed away Monday morning, March 14th, at 7:10 at the home of her two daughters, Mrs. Sadie Locke and Mrs. Mattie Hopkins, where she had been since last August and had been tenderly cared for by them, and the nurse, Mrs. Fred Thurlow, in her last days.

Mrs. Poland had been in poor health for some over three years, and for the past six months had been a great sufferer with Bright's disease. About a year ago she suffered a shock, but through all the months she had borne her sufferings with fortitude and old time courage.

Mrs. Poland was born in Greenwood, Dec. 19, 1859, the daughter of Amos and Sarah (Whitney) Richardson. As a young girl she was housekeeper for her father's family as her mother died when she was very young. She was a model homemaker and her home was a center of refinement and domestic life. She always headed the calls of distress and humanity. In our life of more than four score years, we have never met a person of more sweet and gentle disposition and winning manners or more loyal devotion to every friend and every duty, and we grieve that her warm hand clasp and pleasant smile will greet us henceforth.

With Christian fortitude she made a long, brave struggle for the life so dear to her and others. She endeavored herself to all and her death has caused deep sorrow to her many relatives and friends.

At her funeral on Wednesday afternoon, March 17, at the Welchville Methodist Church, Rev. C. G. Miller of South Paris spoke fitting words of consolation and gave an eloquent tribute to her pure, beautiful and unselfish life. The choir sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "Jesus Saviour Pilot Me." Her two sons, Adna Herick and Lewis Poland, and son-in-law, Herbert Hopkins, and a very dear friend, Edgar Andrews, were the bearers. Interment took place in the family lot in the Town House Cemetery at Welchville.

"When those who love us fade from sight And we are left to face the lonely night The thought that cheers our lonely night The floral tributes were many and beautiful and showed a wide circle of loving friends consisting of the following:

Pillow, "Our Darling Mother"—Mrs. Ar. Herick, Mrs. Sadie Locke, Mrs. Mattie Hopkins, Mrs. M. R. and Mrs. C. H. Lovvick, "Mother"—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Poland.

For a number of years the vehicle has been falling into the "deacon's one boss shays" class, threatening to meet some untimely end, but by completing a century run, however, Foreman Murch is responsible for the improvement. Some of the Weary club members have hinted the chariot should have points to offset the prominent wheel, which is too conspicuous.

Salvation Army Advisory Board

Thomas Henry of Portland was in town this week and formed an advisory board similar to others being assembled in New England to work in conjunction with the Salvation Army in their social relief work.

An idea to better the social conditions is the main thought. With specialized army workers trained in at least sixteen different activities, permanent and far-reaching results may be obtained through the local boards.

The branches include Emergency Department, Missing Friends Bureau, Juvenile Industrial and Agricultural Schools; Boy's Friend Bureau; Young Women's Boarding Homes; Rescue and Maternity Homes; Industrial Homes; Working Men's Homes; Free Employment Bureau; Prison Work, Summer Settlements, Fresh Air Camps, Christmas Dinners, Anti-Suicide Bureau and Work Among Service Men.

Pythian Sisters' Entertainment

Lake Temple Pythian Sisters held a St. Patrick social and entertainment after their regular meeting on March 15. Mr. and Mrs. Cook read the St. Patrick Legend, this was followed by a song hunt which created considerable amusement. Gertrude Mattor discovered the greatest number of snakes and won first prize. Mrs. Vera Scothorne was less fortunate and carried home the consolation prize. A laughable feature was the "Looking Backward" dance led by Mrs. Linwood Fogg when the participants wore costumes and masks in reverse of the regular order. This change made a grotesque appearance and laughable performance.

A lunch was served by the ladies of the committee which included Mrs. Gertrude Libby, Mrs. Nellie Goodwin, Mrs. Barbara Sharon, Mrs. Mary Lewis, Mrs. Alice Pogg, Cleve Goodwin, Edward J. Sharon, Arthur W. Lewis. The waitresses were dressed in white with green caps and aprons. The sisters rank was conferred on three candidates before the entertainment.

Students Selected for Typewriting Contest

On the evening of April 4, occurs at Boston the Third New England School Typewriting Contest. Any school in the six states may enter students who have not begun their course in typewriting previous to September 1, 1920. Norway High School entered two students last year, who made very creditable records, and has selected those who are to represent the school again this year.

At the beginning of the term announcement was made of the coming contest, and the same careful instruction given to each eligible student. During the past few weeks several competitive tests, of ten and fifteen minutes' duration, have been given to find out who could make the best records in speed and accuracy. Verna Kimball, Mabel Perry, and Richard Perkins have led the class in these two requirements, and have therefore earned the privilege of representing the school in this New England School Typewriting Contest.

Connect Premises With Sewer

Mr. Goodrich of the State Board of Health was here this week in consultation with Leroy Spiller, the local health officer, in regard to sanitary conditions in this community.

It was decided that the rules and regulations of the State Department of Health will be enforced just as fast as it is possible.

There are many abuttor to the sewer who have not made connections with it and complaints are coming in regarding it.

The law relative to this is very plain and emphatic. Better look it up and connect with the sewer.

Nothing unreasonable will be asked but the law will be enforced.

Signs posted on the bridge over Pennesseewassee brook between Tim Heath's and Percy Nevers read, "Bridge dangerous. Teams pass at own risk." The stringers are sagging badly.

Carroll, Jefferson Shoe Co. has increased to about 100 dozen pairs a day with the factory approximately on full time. Business at the Norway Shoe Co. is improving with good prospects ahead. (Continued on pages 6 and 8)

SOUTH PARIS

After an illness of several months, Hattie M. Leach died at her home in South Paris Monday night, March 14, at the age of 57 years. Miss Leach was born in West Bethel, the daughter of Mark and Sarah (Mason) Leach. When she was about ten years of age, the family moved to South Paris.

In early life she began teaching in the rural schools of Paris, and later in South Paris village. When the Porter Street schoolhouse was built in 1888 and a primary school established there, she became the teacher and so continued for more than thirty-two years. At times she had over fifty scholars under her care, and during her service in the school many hundreds of children have received their first instruction from her. She was very successful, holding the affection of her pupils and inspiring them to good work.

Failing health caused her to resign shortly before Thanksgiving.

Miss Leach was a member of the Universalist Church, was teacher of the Optimist Class in the Sunday school as long as her health permitted, and was much interested in the welfare of the church. She was a past grand of Mt. Pleasant Rebekah Lodge, a member of the Euterpean Club, and an active worker in numerous lines of social and community activity. Possessing a fine soprano voice, her services were in demand for church choirs and musical entertainments.

She is survived by her mother, two sisters, Mrs. B. Y. Russell and Arva Leach, and one brother, Byron Leach, all of So. Paris, besides other relatives.

A private funeral Thursday afternoon at the home was attended by Rev. Chester Gore Miller and burial was in Riverside Cemetery.

I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the Stone's

On September 3, 1920 Mr. Libby said:

"I haven't had occasion to use Doan's

The Circle entertained last week by Mrs. E. E. Allen and Mrs. Will Raynor had the largest crowd so far this season many coming from a distance of seven or eight miles, such a large crowd that some anxious inquiry by the entertainers and waiters about the amount of food was made, but as usual, there was a great plenty for all, and dainties enough left to add a bit of cheer to some of the shut-ins. The entertainment after supper has become very popular with both old and young, each one seems willing to do his or her bit to make it a very pleasant hour and afterwards the games are entered into in such a joyous spirit that those who do not play enjoy watching the happy faces and listening to the merry laughter of the young people. EAST SUMNER

Ray Keene lately received a short visit from his Camp Devens army chum.

Campfire Girls Entertain

The campfire girls met with Augusta Eastman, Friday evening. As it was the birthday of Bertha Tucker, the smallest member, the hostess presented her with a cake with thirteen lighted candles. In another part of the house Roger Eastman was entertaining some of the brothers of the girls. The distant strains from the saxophone and cornet reached the ears of the girls seated around the open fire and after their ceremonial exercises they invited the boys into the sitting room where a pleasant evening was spent with games, music, and a popcorn lunch.

Ray Smith was treated for appendicitis at his home, Saturday. The operation was performed by Dr. B. G. W. Cushman of Auburn. Dr. Cushman is a native of this town, and the people of this vicinity have great confidence in his surgical skill.

In the absence of Rev. Mr. Berkeley, Mr. Gifford, a young man from Bates College, supplied the pulpit very acceptably Sunday. In the evening instrumental music was furnished by the organ, cornet and violin. As the people were starting for home, Edward Berkley stood in the street in front of the church, and sounded taps. The tones of the cornet were beautiful as they floated on the evening air.

The Lure of BIRTH STONES

MARCH

The aquamarine holds for the March-born serenity. Accordingly, the "March" in January, January in March, "feet" need not be feared in the presence of the stone. The wearer's intellect is quickened and he is cured of procrastination. The name "aquamarine" signifies "water-green." Folklore has pictured it as the ocean wave spraying through moonlight, bringing peace to tired hearts.

GILEAD MAY HAVE A NEW INDUSTRY

A new industry may be launched in Oxford county at no distant date. The rapid disappearance of the native woods in the United States has led to an extensive use of veneers. Articles which until within a few years have been made of solid wood are at the present time frequently made of common wood veneered. By veneering it is possible to get 10 times as much surface measure from timber as when sawed into the usual lumber, that is sawed into lumber yielding 1,000 board feet would produce 10,000 feet of veneer 35 of an inch thick. Not only are the more expensive woods sawed into veneers, but the more common kinds, oaks, maples and birches. It has been suggested by the supervisor of the White Mountain Forest at Gorham, N. H., that a mill be built at Gilead in Oxford county at the junction of the Wild and Androscoggin rivers. The Forest Service holding this region have recommended that 23,000,000 board feet be cut and sold during the next five years.

Are You Interested In LOWER TAXES?

Taxes in Maine can be brought down by attracting to the state enough new industries.

More industries mean more population, more taxpayers, more taxable property, greater prosperity—and inevitably, lower taxes.

Industries will come to Maine only if they can get adequate water power AT A FAIR PRICE. Otherwise, they will go to one of the other states which has water power—to one of the states which will compete sharply with Maine for industries.

Central Maine Power Company has, thanks to the financial co-operation of more than 5,500 Maine people, been able to finance economically, to develop power efficiently and to have it ready to offer to any industry that wants to move to Maine.

The development of Maine power must go on—it must be financed by Maine people. Why not invest some of your money in a security that helps you ultimately toward lower taxes? At the very least, why not send the coupon and get more information?

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

More than one hundred years ago the town public school system was in existence. As the population increased it was supplanted by the district system; reason no doubt for this change was to create a more intense interest on the part of parents in our public schools.

Each school district was a little working democracy endowed with all the rights and duties of towns touching the employment of teachers, the length of school terms, and dates of commencement, supply of fuel and repair of schoolhouses.

District meetings were annually held very soon after town meeting, and were organized for business by choice of moderator and clerk; then the report of the outgoing agent was read and acted upon by an agent elected for the ensuing year. By a series of votes all necessary instruction and authority were given the agent to carry out the details of his office, and extra business was disposed of in parliamentary order. All matters of business were discussed "where the rubber met the road," and often with very lively logic, evoking much humor and logic. Occasionally tilts and reflections were made, that stirred up a little bad personal feeling and after discussion, but generally such feelings were amicably adjusted, or subsided on the spot.

The general effect of these meetings was to arouse a deeper personal interest in the welfare of our public schools, and give a better knowledge of the condition of our school environments, and a more careful oversight of the expenditure of our school funds.

But school superintendents, over anxious to effect some improvement in our school system, argued in their reports that the agent was incompetent to select teachers, and that teachers should be employed by the supervisor, who was the judge of their qualifications, and further argued that agents were guilty of nepotism or the employment of relatives to the detriment of our schools.

So as the result of strenuous efforts of Superintendent Stetson and others, I think the school districts were abolished and a return to the town system established by statute.

Now instead of district agents school committees are elected in our rural towns, annually without regard to special fitness and are no better qualified as an average to perform their legal duties than were the agents who preceded them. In fact, they feel less responsibility, and have less pride and ambition to make good.

Notwithstanding they are without pay they are clothed with more authority and have important additional duties to perform, requiring an intelligent knowledge of books, schools and the progressive of the age in school matters which formerly was not required.

Now let us enumerate some of the duties imposed on these town committees, to show the inconsistency of the argument put forth for the change.

First to direct the general course of instruction and approve a uniform system of text books.

This formerly was the duty of the supervisor, which the ignorant agent was not considered fit to perform.

Second, after due notice and investigation they shall dismiss any teacher although having the required certificate, who proves unable to supervise or whose services are deemed unprofitable. This duty formerly devolved on the supervisor of schools, who visits the schools and ought to have a more intimate knowledge of them than any other person.

And certainly if he be an expert supervisor as the law intends he ought to be better qualified for this delicate and important function than the average citizen.

Third, determine what description of scholars shall attend each school, and classify them.

Can this be done properly without an intelligent knowledge of their scholarship, which the expert supervisor ought to ascertain and know better than a committee who may not have looked into a school book for years.

Fourth, determine the salaries and qualifications of teachers which was formerly the work of the supervisor.

Fifth, practically determine the fitness of pupils to enter the high school.

And here the bars are let down and our every town high schools are swarmed with incompetents that haven't been tested by a right examination in the fundamental branches, many of whom ought to be in fifth grade.

There are but few precocious scholars who have mastered the common school studies at 13 or 14 years of age. At least 50 per cent of our pupils cannot master them at 16 or 17 years and more than 75 per cent of them under our present hurried course never will master them.

They don't get enough stamped into their brains to grow strong mentally. A few studies thoroughly mastered, their underlying principles understood; will do more to make thinkers than numerous branches partially received and lightly impressed. Close application aids assimilation and mental growth. Scholars before they enter the high school should be subjected to a rigid examination with a 90 per cent standard facing them, and be kept in our public schools until they attain to it. Now what is our school status in the state today?

We have five normal schools maintained at great expense and ever calling for more, several academies and seminaries and a free high school in nearly every town in the state, all in the main supported by the towns and state, imposing an onerous and ever increasing burden of taxation on the rural towns, with an alarming outlook for agriculture which is for the most part carried on by gray-haired citizens.

We have extending our rural schools about one-third the number of scholars we had 60 years ago, and about two-thirds the number of occupied school-houses we had then; and yet our state superintendent reports a great shortage of teachers notwithstanding many high school graduates and undergraduates are pressed into the service without special training.

Now what is the cause of this deficiency?

First, low wages; second, the great demand for graduates in all departments of service; third the hard nerve-exhausting labor and many qualifications necessary to the successful teacher, a majority of them confessing a dislike for the work; fourth, marriage. Many of them seek a refuge from school duties by taking a high school course before entering the normal school.

This may help the colleges but is dragging our public schools down to a lower level than hundreds of poor aspirants cannot afford the unnecessary equipment.

Nine-tenths of the pupils today are getting

H. W. BORING, a well-to-do Kansas farmer, says he has gained twenty pounds and is in better general health than he has been in years, since taking Tanlac.

"Since Tanlac has overcome my troubles I have gained twenty pounds in weight and am in better general health than for years past," was the straightforward statement made a few days ago by H. W. Boring, a prominent and well-to-do farmer living at Overland Park, Kansas.

"During the two years I suffered I tried everything I new of to get relief, but nothing seemed to reach my case until I tried Tanlac. My appetite was poor, I hardly retain my food. Nothing seemed to agree with me; in fact, I was almost a confirmed dyspeptic. My whole system seemed to be out of shape. I would have pains across the small of my back so bad at times I could hardly move around.

"My nerves were all unstrung and I would become upset at the least little thing. I seldom slept well at night and finally, became so weak and run-down that I lost weight rapidly. I was also troubled a great deal with catarrh and of mornings had to spend a half hour or more clearing up my head.

"This is just the condition I was in when I began taking Tanlac and it certainly has been a blessing to me. It just seemed to be made especially for my case. I improved from the first. My digestion now is perfect and regardless of what I eat I never suffer any bad after-effects.

"The pains across my back have entirely disappeared. The catarrh has left me, too, and my head is perfectly clear. I am no longer nervous and rest well at night. I have regained my lost weight and am feeling better and stronger than I have in years. I am going to keep Tanlac in my house so it will be handy at all times."

ting too little real practical education and mental power by attempting to cover a too broad field of knowledge.
We are wasting millions on a system of education that doesn't fit the majority of youth for their life work. Foremost educators are beginning to discover that there is too much red tape in our system and that it leaves little room for the development of the individuality.—Maine Farmer.

You Need Goldine

Mr. F. P. Silvernail, motorman, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., says:

"I was completely played out before I took GOLDINE. My body pained me, my stomach was in bad shape and I felt miserable. I sleep at night and it didn't seem to do me any good, and I was weak all the time. I could not seem to get rid of the stomach trouble, no matter what I did or tried. I had many kinds of medicine, but they didn't seem to help me at all. Then I gave GOLDINE a trial. After taking it only three days I began to feel better and I improved so much that I feel 20 years younger."

Beautiful Suits, Coats and Frocks have arrived to gladden the hearts of women. Just at the time when the demand for new apparel is at its height, many new Coats, Suits, Dress Skirts, Waists and Dresses received this week.

The Brilliant Exhibits of Women's Apparel Ready-for-Service Comprises One of the Striking Features of

OUR NEW SPRING DISPLAYS

The displays in this section are prepared especially to meet in a most acceptable manner the needs of those who are most critically inclined. The style touches are authoritative to the least detail, the quality and workmanship of the same high standard always demanded by this store and the prices are most moderate.

While mentioning the subject of prices, we wish to make clear to our friends this one point—our prices are based on present day valuations, the lowest possible market quotations.

THE NEW SUITS

In Suits the fabrics receiving prominence for dress wear are the Twills, Fine Serges and Tricotine. The sport suits strongly favor Irish Tweed in mixtures, and the ever practical Jerseys. Navy blue retains its leadership as the favorite color, with varied mixtures next in line.

Jersey Suits priced at$12.50, $14.90 and $18.90

are receiving unusual favor this season for street and sport wear. Made from the most popular materials and at moderate prices.

Skirts are shown in a variety of checks, strips and plaids, either side or box plaited.

WRAPS FOR SPRING

seem to be divided into two classes. In the one class the cape or wrap coat is achieving prominence for afternoon and evening wear. For street, sports or motor wear, the polo coat remains the favorite.

The Present Exhibit of Gowns

reflects the brightness of Spring in line and color. Splendid combinations of color, trimmings and embroidery make the present assemblage very attractive. Fabrics are mostly silks, Canton crepe, Taffeta and Crepe-de-chine.

THE NEW BLOUSES

will prove a delight to all who appreciate the beautiful dainty, distinctive garments, each with its particular point of attractiveness, ranging from the simply tailored blouse for business wear to the exquisite sheer silk georgette, or beautiful voile and batiste.

Surprise Birthday Party
A surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Everett, 49 Water street, Norway, in honor of Mr. Everett's birthday, March 17. There were thirty-five present from the lodges to which Mr. and Mrs. Everett belong, the Local Order of Moose and the Women of Mooseheart Legion.

The party was planned by the brothers of the order and Mr. and Mrs. Everett were taken completely by surprise when the whole party marched in upon them. Apples, popcorn, salted peanuts and candy were served during the evening. Cards and music by two violins, banjo and organ, also readings and recitations were in order. The guest of honor was presented with a birthday gift to mark the event.

When Mr. and Mrs. Everett bade the guests good-night at a late hour, all declared the evening had been an enjoyable one.

Alfred A. Everett, who has been confined to the house for about three weeks with quinsy sore throat, is on the gain and is beginning to go out a little.

The display of canes cedar fans and other novelties from wood in the Westey Club window has attracted considerable attention. Nature has furnished the material, but several industrious members have fashioned the articles during leisure hours which have been many to the rank and file of the personnel.

Anderson's Orchestra played recently for a dance given at West Paris under the auspices of the Athletic Association there.

Paris Grange
Paris Grange held an all day meeting March 19th. A talk by C. O. Purington, State Lecturer, was much enjoyed by all in the forenoon. The regular routine of business was carried out. Dinner was declared and two hundred partook of a sumptuous meal. Many guests were present from different granges, including Norway, East Sumner, Stevens Mills, East Otisfield and West Paris. Forty-two candidates took the 3d and 4th degrees. The tableaux during the work were beautiful and much appreciated and a better degree team will be hard to find than Paris Grange can produce.

Remarks by Mr. Purington, Henry Edwards, Arthur Chandler, Charles Shaw, and Mrs. Morse closed the exercises. Four hundred dollars was paid on a note for the hall. Paris Grange and West Paris Grange meet with Norway Grange March 26th, for an all day's meeting.

Unicorn Dairy Ration

"You can fool a man, but you can't fool his cow!"

It is not the cost of a feed that is killing the farmer and reducing his profits. The real source of his trouble is his failure to run his cows to full capacity and feeding them right and decently. Cows that could give 40 lbs. of milk are running on a 20-lb. basis, and cows that could make 30 lbs. are running on 15.

The reason dairymen continue to use UNICORN is because they get enough more milk and enough more profit out of it to make it worth their while.

DECISION IN MICHAEL X. MOSKUS CASE

The law court in a rescript handed down has upheld the verdict of guilty in the case of Michael X. Moskus of Boston, charged with blasphemy, returned in the Supreme Judicial court October, 1919, Justice John A. Morrill, presiding. This was one of the most interesting criminal cases ever tried in Maine and the first case when a man was tried charged with blasphemy in Maine, and but very few in the country.

Moskus was charged with having, during an illustrated lecture before one of the Lithuanian societies of Rumford, used language of a blasphemous character in referring to the deity. This information came to the officials, who investigated and arrested the man. He was held for the grand jury and indicted.

County attorney Frederick R. Dyer of Buckfield prosecuted the case for the State, while Hon. Frank A. Morey of Lewiston was counsel for Moskus. The trial lasted nearly a week and the jury returned a verdict after being out less than an hour. An appeal was taken from this verdict and the case was argued last June at the law term of the Supreme Court of Maine held in Portland.

Moskus was released on cash bail of $1,500 pending the result of the findings of the law court. The sentence as imposed by Justice Morrill was imprisonment of not less than one year nor more than two.
